UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

Plaintiff,

vs.

GARETH DAVID LONG,

Defendant.

SEALED CRIMINAL INDICTMENT

Case No.: 2:16-cr- 71

VIOLATIONS:

18 U.S.C. § 1343

18 U.S.C. § 1028A

18 U.S.C. § 1957

At times material to this Indictment:

INTRODUCTORY ALLEGATIONS

1. Defendant GARETH DAVID LONG was a citizen of the United Kingdom residing in Cedar Hill, Texas. Defendant GARETH DAVID LONG owned and operated V Internet Corp, LLC ("V Internet"), a Nevada corporation with offices in Las Vegas, Nevada, and Cedar Hill, Texas. Defendant GARETH DAVID LONG also incorporated and controlled the Nevada corporation Pro Check, LLC.

1 2. V Internet was a third-party payment processor, which is an intermediary
2 between banks and merchants. V Internet opened bank accounts in its own name and
3 used these accounts to conduct banking activities on behalf of its merchant-clients. At 4 least as early as 2009, V Internet operated under the name Altcharge. At least as early as 5 December 2011, V Internet also operated under the name Check Process.

6 3. From December 2011 through July 2013, V Internet conducted business
7 using bank accounts at CommerceWest Bank in Irvine, California.

8 4. V Internet specialized in a payment mechanism called a remotely-created
9 check ("RCC"). An RCC was a check created not by the checking account holder but 10 rather by a third party using the account holder's name, address, and bank account
11 information. Unlike an ordinary check, an RCC was not signed by the account holder. In 12 place of the account holder's signature, an RCC contained a statement claiming that the 13 account holder had authorized the check.
14

15 5. An RCC could be deposited into the account of the payee and processed
16 through the banking system in the same manner as an ordinary check.

17 6. From April 2012 until July 2012, V Internet created and deposited RCCs
18 for a telemarketing company (Company A). In or around late July 2012, CommerceWest
19 Bank refused to allow V Internet to deposit any more RCCs on behalf of Company A due
20 to concerns that Company A was engaged in telemarketing fraud targeting the elderly.

21 7. From in or about April 2012 through in or about December 2012, V Internet
22 created and deposited RCCs for a company that purported to assist consumers with finding a 23 payday loan from an online lender (Company B). V Internet processed hundreds of 24

1 thousands of $30 RCCs on behalf of Company B through V Internet's accounts at 2 CommerceWest Bank. In or about late December 2012, V Internet stopped processing RCCs
3 for Company B.

4 8. Because V Internet created and deposited RCCs for Company A and Company
5 B, V Internet possessed the personal and financial information of each account holder
6 charged by Company A and Company B, including names, addresses, bank account
7 numbers, and bank routing numbers necessary to create RCCs drawn on those accounts.

9 9. Many transactions V Internet processed for Company A and B were 10 returned. An RCC "return" refers to a transaction that was refused or reversed by the 11 account holder's bank because the check was drawn upon: (i) a bank account that was 12 nonexistent, closed, or contained insufficient funds; and/or (ii) a bank account of an 13 individual who had not agreed to purchase any product or service and did not authorize a 14 withdrawal from his or her account and alerted his or her bank in time to reverse the 15 transaction (usually within 30-60 days) thereby effectuating a return of the money to the 16 account.

17 COUNTS 1-15
18 WIRE FRAUD
19 18 U.S.C. § 1343

20 10. The Introductory Allegations of this Indictment are realleged and 21 incorporated by reference as though fully set forth herein.

22 11. Beginning in or about January 2013 and continuing through at least July
23 2013, in the District of Nevada and elsewhere, the defendant,

24 GARETH DAVID LONG

1 did knowingly, and with intent to defraud, devise and intend to devise a scheme and 2 artifice to defraud and to obtain money and property by means of materially false and
3 fraudulent pretenses, representations, and promises, knowing that the pretenses,
4 representations, and promises were false and fraudulent when made, and, for the purpose
5 of executing such scheme and artifice and attempting to do so, did knowingly transmit
6 and cause to be transmitted in interstate commerce by means of wire communications,
7 certain writings, signs, and signals.

9 Object of the Scheme to Defraud

10 12. The object of the scheme was, under the fraudulent pretext of providing 11 assistance to consumers in securing a payday loan, to defraud account holders and 12 financial institutions by debiting and attempting to debit millions of dollars from 13 hundreds of thousands of bank accounts of unwitting account holders throughout the 14 United States who did not authorize debits of their accounts.

15 The Scheme to Defraud

16 13. In or around late December 2012, GARETH DAVID LONG created the 17 façade that he was operating a merchant business that offered assistance to consumers in 18 finding payday loans.

19 14. In January 2013, Defendant GARETH DAVID LONG registered the 20 website www.fastloanfast.com. In February 2013, defendant GARETH DAVID LONG
21 registered the website www.loan4utoday.com. In April 2013, defendant GARETH
22 DAVID LONG registered the website www.fastloan4me.com.
23
24

1 15. Other than the different names, these three websites were largely identical.
2 The websites purported to allow consumers to apply for a payday loan and match
3 applicants with lenders.

4 16. From on or about January 8, 2013 through on or about July 12, 2013,
5 defendant GARETH DAVID LONG, through his company, V Internet, created and 6 deposited thousands of $30 RCCs nearly every business day. These RCCs withdrew 7 money from victims' bank accounts.

8 17. But, these RCC's were not generated by visits to these websites. Rather,
9 defendant GARETH DAVID LONG charged the accounts of hundreds of thousands of 10 individuals who had never visited these websites or authorized a charge by defendant
11 GARETH DAVID LONG's company.
12

13 How LONG Obtained Victims' Account Information

14 18. Defendant GARETH DAVID LONG learned of many of these account
15 holders from "lead lists." From January 2013 through July 2013, using the company
16 name Pro Check LLC, defendant GARETH DAVID LONG purchased lead lists, which 17 were electronic files that each contained detailed personal and financial information of 18 thousands of bank account holders. Defendant GARETH DAVID LONG paid
19 approximately $0.25 to $0.35 per account holder for these lead lists.
20

21 19. Defendant GARETH DAVID LONG created and deposited hundreds of 22 thousands of $30 RCCs using the personal and financial information contained on these 23 lead lists.
24

1 20. In addition to the RCCs created from the lead lists, defendant GARETH
2 DAVID LONG created and deposited hundreds of thousands of $30 RCCs drawn on the 3 bank accounts of account holders who had previously been charged by V Internet's prior
4 merchants, Company A and Company B.

5 Additional, Repeat Charges Against Victims' Accounts

6 21. Defendant GARETH DAVID LONG created and deposited multiple,
7 additional $30 RCCs drawn on the accounts of hundreds of thousands of his unwitting
8 victims, whether he knew the account holders' information by way of lead lists or by way
9 of Companies A and B. For tens of thousands of these account holders, defendant
10 GARETH DAVID LONG created and deposited four or more RCCs drawn on each
11 account.

12 22. V Internet's RCCs contained false statements that allowed the RCCs to be 13 processed through the banking system. Despite the fact that hundreds of thousands of 14 account holders had not authorized a payment to defendant GARETH DAVID LONG's
15 company, V Internet's RCCs contained the following statement, "NO SIGNATURE 16 REQUIRED. This payment has been authorized by your depositor," followed by the 17 account holder's typed name. Account holders' banks relied on this statement to accept 18 the RCCs as valid withdrawals from their customers' accounts.

19 23. V Internet's RCCs were made payable to one of four entities or websites
20 associated with defendant GARETH DAVID LONG. Numerous RCCs were made
21 payable to defendant GARETH DAVID LONG's payment processing entity, Check
22
23
24

1 Process. Numerous RCCs were made payable to the name of one of defendant GARETH
2 DAVID LONG's three websites: FastLoanFast, Loan4uToday, and FastLoan4me.

3 24. From January through July 2013, defendant GARETH DAVID LONG
4 created and deposited more than 750,000 RCCs, totaling more than $22 million.
5 Approximately 50% of the RCCs created and deposited by V Internet were returned by 6 account holders' banks. Many RCCs were returned because the account holder saw the 7 debit and realized that an unauthorized charge was being imposed on his or her account.
8 Other RCCs were returned because they were drawn on accounts that were nonexistent,
9 closed or did not contain sufficient funds to cover the debit. Many victims, however, did
10 not notice the charge and therefore did not dispute it.
11

12 25. Defendant GARETH DAVID LONG operated a call center in Cedar Hill,
13 Texas. Call center employees received calls from account holders who had been charged
14 one or more times. Defendant GARETH DAVID LONG provided instructions to call
15 center employees on how to respond to complaints. Among other instructions, defendant
16 GARETH DAVID LONG instructed call center employees to falsely tell account holders
17 that they must have applied for a payday loan and authorized the $30 fee; otherwise, V
18 Internet would not have their information.

19 26. When account holders called and complained about the charges on their 20 accounts, at times V Internet employees promised to refund account holders' money.
21 Defendant GARETH DAVID LONG had authority over whether an account holder
22 would receive a refund. V Internet rarely refunded account holders' money, even after V
23 Internet employees had promised such a refund.
24
